

L1 Technologies Announces Launch of the All New iGolf.com Complete Redesign Offers Enhanced Free Membership Features

SAN DIEGO, April 26, 2010 – L1 Technologies, parent company of the iGolf brand, has announced the release of a completely redesigned website at www.iGolf.com. The new site features dramatic design changes and enhanced free membership features geared towards golfers and golf enthusiasts.

iGolf.com members will find that it is now easier to search the iGolf database of GPS data and listings for more than 33,000 golf courses worldwide. The new website also introduces Groups and Talk on iGolf.com; enhanced applications designed to allow members to connect and share their passion for the game of golf. Groups and Talk are available to anyone with a free membership.

“We are very excited to announce the launch of a brand new iGolf.com,” stated Gary Symington, General Manager of the iGolf Division. “The site design has been optimized based on member feedback for improved usability, and I think that golfers will quickly see the benefits of our new free applications.”

iGolf.com, home to the world’s largest GPS-enabled golf course database, also features a free handicap tracker, independent equipment, course and travel destination reviews and the latest news from the world of golf.

Groups

iGolf.com Groups provide golfers with a powerful, yet easy to use application to manage any golf related activity. Golfers can start a new group to keep up with friends, family and their regular foursome, or join an existing group to connect with other iGolf.com members and track events, organize trips and post news.

Golf Courses, social clubs and businesses can create free, customizable public or private groups to manage tournaments and outings. Groups also allow companies to develop their own social communities within iGolf.com. Members can join these groups to track company news, view pictures and RSVP for events.

Talk

Talk on iGolf.com is a new message board dedicated to the game of golf. Members can easily get the latest iGolf and industry announcements, while also discussing PGA Tour news, playing tips, equipment reviews and anything else related to golf.

Mobile

The new Mobile section of iGolf.com highlights iGolf Mobile, a high powered golf GPS application currently available for the iPhone, and coming soon to multiple mobile platforms. Golfers can get detailed information about the application and keep up with announcements about releases and mobile news.
